

Brevo Ecom — 25 Newsletter Placements Under $4k

August 2026 · Budget ceiling $3,000–$4,000 per placement · Optimised for audience relevance over raw reach · Newsletter names are clickable and link to the sponsor or advertise page where one is published

Tier 1 — Ecommerce & DTC operators · highest intent, buy these first

#	Newsletter	Audience	Est. cost	Best buy at ≤ $4k	Why it fits Brevo Ecom
1	Chase Dimond	100k+ · 46% open · 3x/week	$2.5–3.5k	Primary + social amplification	Best single fit in the list. An email-marketing newsletter read by ecom founders — readers are actively shopping for an ESP. Omnisend already sponsors it.
2	DTC Newsletter	~160k DTC founders & marketing execs · daily	$3–4k	Primary, or 2 secondary slots	The default read for DTC operators. Tactical performance-marketing content — retention and email sit natively in it.
3	2PM	~25–60k commerce & media execs · weekly	$2.5–4k	Primary in a Monday memo	Small list, most senior commerce audience anywhere. High CPM, worth it for credibility with mid-market buyers.
4	Future Commerce	~40k + top-ranked commerce podcast	$2–4k	Newsletter + host-read podcast bundle	Thought-leadership positioning with retail and DTC leaders. Sells newsletter, research and retail-media packages.
5	Ecommerce Fastlane	~28–50k Shopify merchants · 420+ podcast eps	$1.5–3.5k	Newsletter + full podcast episode	Shopify-native audience run by an ex-Shopify merchant success manager. Explicitly sells merchant reach to vendors.
6	eCommerceFuel	~15–25k · 7-figure store owners	$1–2.5k	Primary + community placement	Smallest list here, highest revenue-per-reader. Vetted private community of established merchants.
7	Lean Luxe	~25–35k modern consumer-brand execs	$1–2.5k	Primary	Premium DTC brand builders. Strong for mid-market positioning rather than volume.
8	Talk Shop Daily	10k+ operators · daily · Shopify Discord community	$0.5–1.2k	3–4 sends	Cheap, daily, dead-on audience. The right place to test creative and frequency before spending on Tier 1 primaries.
9	Shopifreaks	20k+ · weekly ecom news · incl. platform execs	$0.4–0.9k	4+ sends	Long-running independent roundup by Paul Dreckler. Cheapest credible ecom slot in the set.

Tier 2 — Email & CRM practitioners · category intent, comparing tools

#	Newsletter	Audience	Est. cost	Best buy at ≤ $4k	Why it fits Brevo Ecom
10	Really Good Emails	~100k+ email marketers & designers	$2–4k	Primary	Highest category intent of any list here. CONFLICT WATCH: acquired by BEE Pro (Apr 2024), an email-tooling vendor — confirm a Brevo ad clears review before planning spend.
11	Jay Schwedelson — Do This, Not That	50k+ email & marketing pros · #1 US marketing podcast	$1–2.5k	Primary + podcast mention	Strong practitioner audience, but CONFLICT WATCH: Jay is a Constant Contact brand ambassador and CC acquired GURU Conference (Jan 2026). Expect a competitive block — verify first.
12	Email Marketing Heroes	~30k + podcast	$1–2.5k	Newsletter + podcast	Ecom-leaning email automation audience. Host-read audio converts well against a low newsletter rate.

Tier 3 — Marketing & growth · the buying committee for an ESP

#	Newsletter	Audience	Est. cost	Best buy at ≤ $4k	Why it fits Brevo Ecom
13	Stacked Marketer	~90–100k performance marketers · daily	$3.5–4k	Primary, or primary + “Rounding Up The Stack” bullet	~$100 CPM private rate — tight against the cap, but the audience is buyers. Book 3–4 weeks ahead; last-minute inventory is where discounts live.
14	Demand Curve	100k+ · 50%+ open rate	$2–3k	Primary	Exceptional open rate. Growth-playbook content that email and automation fits into naturally. Open sponsorship form.
15	Marketing Examined	~200k growth marketers	$2.5–4k	Secondary slot only	Reach has pushed the primary slot above the cap ($65–75k/month in sponsorship revenue). Buy the secondary and keep the frequency.
16	Marketing Examples	115–130k	$3–4k	Primary	Copy and conversion case studies. Among the best raw reach-per-dollar at the top of the budget.
17	The Marketing Millennials	~100k+ · large social following	$3–4k	Primary + LinkedIn amplification	Broad marketer reach with meaningful social spillover from Daniel Murray's own channels.
18	Why We Buy	~63k list · 220k total audience	$1.5–3k	Primary	Buyer-psychology angle pairs naturally with lifecycle, retention and automation messaging.
19	Growth in Reverse	~60k · deep-dive format	$2–3k	Primary	Very high engagement per subscriber, and readers are themselves email and newsletter operators.

Tier 4 — Founders, startups & tech · cheapest reach, top-of-funnel

#	Newsletter	Audience	Est. cost	Best buy at ≤ $4k	Why it fits Brevo Ecom
20	Starter Story	~100k+ founders	$2–4k	Primary	Case-study format. Founders launching stores are a credible free-tier pipeline, weaker for mid-market.
21	Indie Hackers	230k+ builders · 30%+ open	$0.75–1.1k	Multiple sends at the full-section rate	Published rate card: $749 intro section, $1,099 full section. By far the best reach-per-dollar in this list.
22	Failory	40k+ founders	$0.8–1.8k	Primary + repeat	Cheap, engaged startup audience with a long sponsorship track record.
23	Trends.vc	~50k operators	$1–2k	Primary	Research-report format and high trust. Sponsorship inventory is deliberately limited, so book early.
24	TLDR Marketing	Segment of TLDR's 7.2M-reader network	$2–4k	Secondary/classified on the marketing edition	The flagship is ~$15k and out of reach. Ask for the segmented edition rate card, not the network one.
25	Sifted	~100k European tech & startup	$2–4k	Primary	The one buy that indexes on Europe rather than the US — relevant given where Brevo is strongest.

Outreach directory

Who to approach, on which channel. For solo-operator newsletters a LinkedIn or X DM to the named person typically beats a generic inbox; for team-run titles the booking form is fastest. Every address and handle below is published — “not public” means no address was found, so use the booking route rather than guessing one.

Conflict watch — verify before you plan spend

- Really Good Emails was acquired by BEE Pro in April 2024. It is now owned by an email-tooling vendor, so a Brevo placement may not clear their review. Confirm before budgeting it.
 - Jay Schwedelson is a Constant Contact brand ambassador, and Constant Contact acquired his GURU Conference in January 2026. Treat a Brevo placement as unlikely until they say otherwise.
 - If either falls through, the email-practitioner audience is still covered by Chase Dimond and Email Marketing Heroes — no need to find replacements outside this list.
- Contacts were compiled from publishers' own sponsor, advertise and contact pages plus their public profiles. No addresses have been guessed from name patterns — “not public” means no published address was found.

What $3–4k actually buys — modelled unit economics

Metric	2026 benchmark	Brevo Ecom at $3,000 on a 50k-open list
Effective CPM (on opens)	$40–80 B2B · $80–200 B2B SaaS / marketing	$60
Sponsored-ad CTR	1–3%	1.5% → ~750 clicks
Effective CPC	—	~$4.00
Landing-page conversion	15–35% dedicated LP vs 1–3% generic homepage	20% → ~150 signups
Cost per qualified signup	~$11–21 typical	~$20

The landing page is the single biggest lever: a purpose-built page converts 15–35% against 1–3% for generic homepage traffic. Sending newsletter clicks to a general product page gives back roughly 10x of the spend.

Negotiation levers at this budget

- Book 3–4 weeks out, or buy last-minute. Publishers discount unsold inventory rather than run house ads.
- Buy 3 issues, not 1. Single insertions don't build recall. A multi-issue commit typically gets 15–25% off rate card.
- Ask for the podcast bundle. Ecommerce Fastlane, Future Commerce, Email Marketing Heroes and The Marketing Millennials all run shows; host-read audio is usually cheap against a newsletter buy and outperforms the display unit.
- Push for CPA or hybrid. The market is drifting from CPM to per-signup pricing (~$11–21 per qualified signup). A lower base plus a per-signup bonus caps your downside.
- Ask for the segment. TLDR, Brew and Digiday quote the flagship by default — the vertical edition is a different rate card.
- Go direct for Tiers 1 and 2. Marketplaces take ~30% publisher commission, so direct outreach usually gets a better number for the same inventory. Use Paved, Swapstack or beehiiv for the long tail.

Instrumentation — non-negotiable per placement

- Dedicated landing page per newsletter, not one shared page.
- Unique UTM and unique promo code, so self-serve signups that never click still attribute.
- Post-signup “how did you hear about us” question, to catch the dark-social halo.
- Measure to activated — store connected, not signup. Tier 4 will flatter a signup-only metric.

Suggested $20k first wave

Buy	Spend	Reads out
Chase Dimond — 3 sends	$8,000	Highest-intent audience, tested at frequency
DTC Newsletter — 1 primary	$3,500	Scale read on the core DTC operator audience
Ecommerce Fastlane — newsletter + podcast	$3,000	Shopify-native reach and audio format test
Really Good Emails — 1 primary	$3,000	Category-intent control against ecom-intent
Indie Hackers + Shopifreaks	$2,500	Cheap-reach control; expect free-tier skew

Scale into Tier 1 primaries on whatever clears a target cost-per-activated-store. Kill Tier 4 if it only produces free-tier signups that never connect a store.

Explicitly out of budget — don't spend the cycles

Newsletter	Realistic primary rate	Verdict
Morning Brew (flagship)	~$50,000	Out of reach
TLDR (flagship)	~$15,000	Buy the segmented edition instead
Lenny's Newsletter	$15,000+	Out of reach
The Hustle	$10,000+	Out of reach
Retail Brew / Marketing Brew	$8,000–25,000	Sub-primary units land near $4–8k — you'd be buying scraps
Modern Retail (Digiday)	$3,000–6,000	Budget-dependent — worth one exploratory call, not a planned buy

Method and caveat

Prices are modelled estimates, not quotes. Each is calculated as (engaged opens ÷ 1,000) × vertical CPM × slot multiplier (primary 1.0x, secondary 0.6x, classified 0.25x), using published 2026 benchmarks: marketing and growth $25–50 CPM, B2B $40–80, B2B SaaS median $112, and $15–120 across all niches. Audience figures are the publishers' own last-published numbers. Anchor your first email to these figures — then verify every one against the current media kit before committing. Audience sizes and rate cards move quarterly.
